Suspect killed after pointing gun at deputies

Hancock County Sheriff Ricky Adam said 29-year-old Lawrence Gregoire Bottoms pulled a gun on two deputies on Monday before they shot him dead outside a Bayside Park duplex.

The incident occurred at around 2:30 p.m. Monday after a sheriff's Special Response Team attempted to serve a high-risk warrant from Baton Rouge against Bottoms at an elevated duplex on East Neshoba Street, Adam said.

Deputies had received a tip that Bottoms may have been selling narcotics at the residence, Adam said.

Deputies first evacuated the family next door, Adam said, before firing tear gas into Bottoms' residence. A woman -- later identified as Allison Rose Rainey, age 23 -- exited the residence after the tear gas was administered and she was quickly taken into custody, Adam said. However, he said, when deputies breached the front door, Bottoms jumped out a back window in an attempt to escape.

As deputies pursued Bottoms, Adam said, the suspect turned and pointed a 9mm handgun at them. The officers then shot him and, although deputies administered CPR, Bottoms was declared dead at the scene.

A deputy was apparently bitten by a K-9 unit dog during the incident, offi-

Deputies arrest five suspects in string of burglaries in Ansley community

SEA COAST ECHO

Last week, deputies of the Hancock County Sheriff's Office have made five arrests in connection with residential burglaries, authorities said Friday.

"Investigators with the Hancock County Sheriff's Office received complaints of the burglaries of residences, all in the Ansley Community, which are predominantly weekend camps or summer homes," Chief Deputy Jeremy Skinner said in a press release Friday.

"Through thorough investigations, investigators were able to identify five suspects involved in the burglaries of those residences. All five suspects were arrested on April 25."

Those arrested included:

- Joshua Johnson, who was charged Burglary and Possession of a Controlled Substance --methamphetamine, which was on his person at the time of arrest, Skinner said.
- Alex Mayfield was charged with Burglary and Possession of Stolen Property.
- Sampson Smith was charged with Burglary.
- John Faucheux was charged with Receiving

Stolen Property, Felony Possession of a Controlled Substance, and Burglary.

"The Hancock County Sheriff's Office is looking to identify additional victims and asking for those with summer or weekend homes in the Ansley area to please check their residences," Skinner said. "If you believe your residence has been burglarized, please contact the Hancock County Sheriff's Office Criminal Investigations Division."

"These crimes, while they may be perceived as minor, affect the quality of life for Hancock Countians and are taken very seriously by my office," Sheriff Ricky Adam said in the release. "I am very proud of the work my staff has done in solving these burglaries. We will continue to provide professional law enforcement services to the citizens of Hancock County in attempts to reduce all crime."

The investigation is ongoing, Skinner said. If you have any information regarding any potential crimes, please contact the Hancock County Sheriff's Office.

Bay St. Louis mom charged after minors drank at party

BY GEOFF BELCHER
NEWS EDITOR

A Bay St. Louis woman was arrested early Sunday and charged with nearly three dozen violations of Mississippi's "social host" law, which makes it unlawful for an adult to knowingly allow minors to consume alcoholic beverages on his or her property.

Ashley C. Egger, 46, was arrested at a little after midnight after someone reported that minors were drinking at a prom party at her home, Bay St. Louis police officials said. Egger was charged with 35 separate counts of violating the social host law. She was booked at the Hancock County Jail, but released later Sunday after posting $3,500 in bonds -- $100 on each count.

Although the crime is a misdemeanor, each individual count carries a fine of up to $1,000 and a 90-day jail sentence, at the discretion of the court.

According to the Mississippi Code, "No adult who owns or leases a private residence or private premises shall knowingly allow a party to take place or continue at the residence or premises if a minor at the party obtains, possesses or consumes any alcoholic beverage, light wine or beer if the adult knows that the minor has obtained, possesses or is consuming alcoholic beverages, light wine or beer."

"As a community, we do not have to accept underage drinking as a community norm," Hancock County Drug Free Communities Director Rhonda Rhodes said Monday.

Drug Free Communities, under the auspices of the Hancock Resource Center, has been leading a campaign to curtail underage drinking during prom and graduation season.

"It is our responsibility to teach youth that underage drinking is not a rite of passage," Rhodes said. "In January of 2019, the Hancock Community Coalition surveyed Hancock County students

Relay for Life: Celebrating survivors, caregivers, volunteers and remembering those who we lost

I've met some pretty amazing people during my past few years working in the newspaper business.

Last week, I met Edie Hurlstone, a breast cancer survivor with an intense passion for helping others come to terms with their own cancer diagnoses.

She is also super funny and I found myself laughing throughout most of the interview.

She is a spitfire, for sure, and I admire her mindset.

Edie doesn't volunteer for self-glorification purposes, she does it because she truly wants to help people overcome their adversities on the road to recovery.

During our almost two-hour interview, I noted how humble she was when speaking about her various volunteer efforts.

That attitude is probably why the Hancock County Relay for Life Committee chose Hurlstone as this year's Honorary Survivor.

I admire people who volunteer for the good of others and not to fulfill their own narcissistic agendas.

More often, it's a "look what I did" type of thing, rather than "look how much the other person accomplished because of the efforts of others."

On the other hand, I'm all for celebrating the works of our volunteers. We have so many in this community and most do not like when the spotlight is on them.

But their efforts need to be recorded because I hope it inspires others to give their time, as well.

This Saturday, May 4, the community will gather to remember those lives lost to cancer, those battling the disease now, and the caregivers at the annual Relay for Life event.

The event raises funds to help people pay for transport to treatments and other things they might need while they undergo cancer treatments.

The money raised in Hancock County also goes towards helping cancer patients here.

The event begins at 1 p.m. at the RV Park at Hollywood Casino and features games, a survivor/caregiver luncheon and a luminary ceremony.

I don't many people who have either not lost a loved one to cancer or know someone that is currently battling this disease.

Cancer took the life of my 24-year-old Uncle Ricky and later on my Paw Paw.

If you can't make it to the event, you can also donate to the cause, if you can afford to, at www.relayforlife.org/hancockms.

One day, I hope that doctors will discover a cure for cancer. Until that day, I'm glad that there are events such as Relay for Life and people like Edie who make battling cancer a little bit easier.

Weep for Notre Dame

I believe that this church offers the carefully discerning such cause for admiration," the 14th-century French philosopher Jean de Jandun wrote of Notre Dame, "that its inspection can scarcely sate the soul."

A cultural calamity played out on live TV when the Paris cathedral that has been a focal point of Christendom for so long was apparently gutted by a raging fire, destroying a significant part of an inheritance built up over hundreds of years in a few hours.

Notre Dame stands for so many qualities that we now lack -- patience and staying power, the cultivation of beauty, a deep religious faith, the cultural confidence and ambition to build a timeless monument of our civilization -- that the collapse of its spire was almost too much to bear.

The great novelist Victor Hugo, author of the "Hunchback of Notre Dame," wrote how "every surface, every stone of this venerable pile, is a page of the history not only of the country, but of science and art."

It was the work of generations, completed across three centuries, in a triumph over considerable architectural and logistical challenges. Thousands of tons of stone had to be transported from outside Paris, one ox cart or barge at a time. To achieve its soaring height and hold up its ceiling and walls, it relied on the architectural innovations of the rib vault and flying buttress.

France built 80 cathedrals and 500 large churches across this period, but there was only one Notre Dame of Paris, a Gothic jewel whose towers, prior to the advent of the Eiffel Tower, were the tallest structure in the city.

It is -- or, one hates to think, was -- adorned by what are significant cultural artifacts in their own right.

The statuary meant to illustrate the story of the Bible, and to awe worshippers who couldn't read.

The stained-glass windows that took ingenuity to embed in stone walls and are themselves artistic marvels.

The organ with more than 8,000 pipes.

The bells, with their own names, including the largest, the masterpiece Emmanuel, dating back to the 15th century and recast in 1681.

Not to mention the religious relics that mean so much to the Catholic faithful.

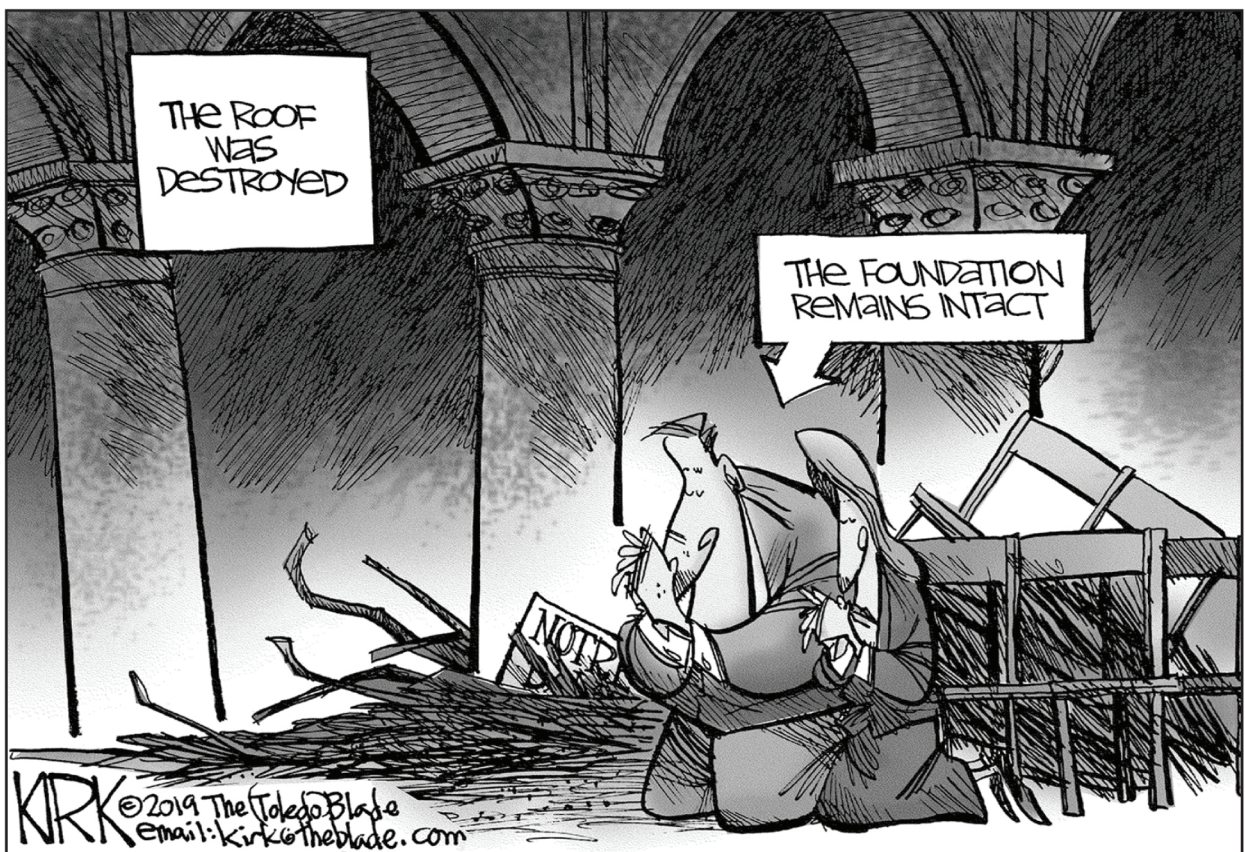

It has been the site of countless processions and services to petition and thank God on behalf of the French nation. It was where illustrious marriages and funeral occurred, where Napoleon crowned himself emperor, where Charles de Gaulle attended a mass to celebrate the liberation of Paris in 1944, rifle fire echoing outside.

It survived the rampages of iconoclastic Huguenots in the 16th century, the depredations of radicals during the French Revolution in the 18th century (they transformed it into a shrine to the Cult of Reason, used it as a warehouse and wanted to melt down the bells) and incidental damage during two world wars in the 20th century.

Notre Dame has been thoughtfully restored and preserved over the years, to our credit. But it's difficult not to discern a distressing message in the wanton destruction that ravaged the iconic cathedral -- what prior generations so carefully and faithfully built, we are losing.

Thinking about Health: Hospital ads may mislead

This New York City subway ad recently caught my attention: "When researching hospitals, consider how much research they do." The ad for Mt. Sinai Health System advised riders that the research "we do today drives medicine we will do tomorrow," and the hospital system was proud that it ranked among the top four medical schools in the country in research dollars per investigator.

I'm used to outlandish and questionable advertising, but this ad rose to a new level.

If I were looking for a hospital for a surgical procedure or were taken to a facility in critical condition as I was in 2017, the last thing I'd care about was that the hospital ranked highly for "research dollars per investigator" -- whatever that means.

How does implying that the research a hospital conducts today, which will take years to benefit patients if it pans out, indicate the hospital is currently giving superior care?

Why is this something I need to know before choosing a hospital? I can think of several other measures -- like a hospital's infection rates for blood stream or surgical site infections or its readmission rates -- that can indicate poor care and are far more useful. These metrics are sometimes available on state health department websites or on the Medicare Hospital Compare site.

This kind of hospital corporate advertising falls into the same bucket as ads that tout medical miracles for hard-to-cure patients that occurred in the hospital paying for the ads. You've probably seen those, too. For months New York Presbyterian promoted the story of a little girl whose case was rejected by other hospitals but who was made cancer-free at its facility.

The Cleveland Clinic is a master at such ads. A recent commercial featured a woman whose heart was failing. She told viewers the Clinic saved her life. "No one else could figure out what was wrong with me."

What's wrong with that testimonial? "The problem with these ads is they may not be giving a realistic picture to people who have serious life-threatening cancers and other diseases and suggest that survival, if not certain, is at least likely" at the hospital sponsoring the ad, says Arthur Caplan, a professor of bioethics at New York University Langone Medical Center.

Those ads are misleading, Caplan told me. He explained that many ads push individualized or personalized medicine so patients think that the medications or treatments are designed specially for them. "They give the impression there's a pharmacy up in the attic brewing up a medicine just for you."

That's deceiving the patients, Caplan noted. "It's cruel to suggest you're getting something special or otherwise unattainable when that's not the case."

These ad campaigns designed to make you think favorably of a hospital are part of a larger campaign to build brand recognition much like detergent or cereal makers do. "Medicine is mainly being treated like a business," Caplan explained. "More and more, people are treated as customers, and doctors are treated as providers. You'd be a sap if you don't advertise. I see a lot of cut-throat competition."

Such brand recognition advertising is especially important when what Caplan calls the Mother Ship Hospital buys smaller facilities in other locations as a way to bring in more patients. When people live in communities where, say, a hospital like New York's Mt. Sinai or the Cleveland Clinic has bought a satellite facility, they'll think favorably about someday being a patient at the local affiliate.

But are care and outcomes at the satellites the same as they are at the Mother Ship, either good or bad? Patients can never tell from the advertising. A recent study published in the JAMA Network Open found that the likelihood of surviving complex cancer surgery appears to be greater for those who had the procedure at the top-ranked hospitals than at their affiliates.

Until we know more, the best advice is to take hospital advertising with a grain of salt. Do research on your own if you are in a situation where you can make a choice — many people can't — using the Medicare Hospital Compare website and any state information. You might also consider information on leapfroggroup.org, a non-profit patient safety organization, to help with your decision-making.

SUE ELLEN BLANCHARD CARTER

Sue Ellen Blanchard Carter died peacefully at home on April 26, 2019. She was born in New Orleans, Louisiana on May 18, 1943. She was married to the love of her life, William M. Carter, Sr. for 48 years of what everyone described as the greatest love story that they have ever seen. Sue Carter was a loving wife, caring and supportive Momma, devoted daughter and cherished "Sista". She was a selfless giver, she gave all she had and never asked for anything in return. She gave her time, her talents, her wisdom, but most of all her heart. She always found the good in everyone, always positive, full of joy with some added spunk. Sue retired from Walmart in Waveland, MS after 21 years of service. She was adored by everyone who knew her and will always be remembered as "Sweet Sue". NORMA MAY JEFFRIES

Norma May passed away at her home in Bay St. Louis with her devoted and loving husband Michael by her side, along with close friends and family members. Norma was born in Kingston Jamaica. Attending a Catholic Boarding school, Immaculate Conception she started out with her desire to become a nun. This changed as she got older. She went on to study ballet and became a professional dancer; performing all over Europe and the Middle East, including Lebanon, Egypt, Greece and Italy. She was one of Jamaica's first models and went on to perform in several movies with Ingrid Bergman, Robert Donet, Rod Taylor and James Coburn.

She acquired several nicknames over the years; "Sparky" by her husband Michael, "Darling" by others, but perhaps the most fitting was "Happiness" as a dear and close friend once called her. She was sheer happiness, never an unkind word toward anyone or anything. Known for her charm of calling you "Darling", she was loved and respected by so many people around the world. But most of all she was loved and adored by her family and devoted husband of 38 years, Michael. Together they traveled the world and touched the hearts and lives of many they met. It is with great sadness and grief that this beautiful lady has passed from this world into another. She was a blessing to all who knew and met her. Her love and kindness to others was never ending. She will be missed by so many.

She is survived by her two sons Richard Anthony Soares (Eleanor) and Donet Christopher Soares, her three grandsons Joseph Spencer Soares, Aaron Anthony Soares, Jesse John-Marc Soares. Along with her two-great grandson; Joshua Soares and Noah Soares, one stepson Shannon Michael Jeffries and stepdaughter Kristina Marie Talbot (Daniel), and step grandchildren, Alyxandra Grace, Sophia Ann, Mollee Kate Marie, Jeffrey Ryan, Katherine Marie, Andrew Paul, Michael Gabriel. No funeral service will be held, however a special service celebrating her life through pictures will be held at a later date.

GARY ALLEN ROONEY

Gary Allen Rooney, 80, passed away on April 26, 2019. A Midwestern boy, Gary was born in Glenwood, MN. His lifelong designation as life of the party began when he was voted "Best Mixer" of his high school class. One month after graduation in 1956, he enlisted in the Navy and was stationed in San Diego and Japan. Following his honorable discharge in 1960, Gary headed to the University of Minnesota.

Now an urbanite, Gary and his wife Mary Lou resided in Minneapolis and Edina for many years. He enjoyed a long career with Knowlan's Grocery and was a faithful booster for the University. After retirement and being widowed in 2006, Gary filled his time with family, friends and activities but felt himself looking for something more.

After deciding wintering in Florida wasn't for him, Gary came to Diamondhead where he had family and friends from Glenwood. It was an immediate match. He loved the area, activities and real sense of community.

Gary enjoyed the Diamondhead Country Club, especially Sunday brunch. He was an avid reader and loved golf, cooking, entertaining and his ever present Bombay and Tonic with a twist of lime.

Gary's world got even brighter when he met Carol Lilley in 2016. He was lucky enough to find love again at this stage of his life.

It all started when Gary was Equerry to King Jim Brownell and Carol served as Lady-in-Waiting to Queen Martha Bryan for the 2017 Boater's Krewe of Kamehameha. Through that commitment, they found their relationship blossoming.

Gary and Carol had a wonderful 2 1/2 years together and he was happier than ever. Unfortunately, a diagnosis of Multiple Myeloma cut their time short. Carol was by his side when Gary found his eternal life. In addition to Carol, Gary is survived by his brothers Dick (Bev), Darrell, Paul (Annette) and Phil (Theresa) and his sister Jeanne. Also, many nieces, nephews and countless friends.

We would like to thank the staff of Kare In Home, Hancock Medical Center, and Southern Care Hospice for their excellent and compassionate care of our beloved Gary Rooney.

A Celebration of Life will be held Monday, May 6, 5:00 p.m. until 7:00 p.m., at the Diamondhead Country Club. Family and friends are welcome.

Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis, MS is in charge of arrangements.

SSC sweeps Northeast Lauderdale in Round 2, sets sights on Sumrall

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws (24-7) swept the Northeast Lauderdale Trojans in a best-of-three series in the second round of the Class 4A state baseball playoffs with steady pitching and timely hits.

The combination of the two provided wins of 11-4 at home on Friday and a 5-3 come from behind win on the road on Saturday.

In Friday's game, Dawson Strong got the win on the mound for SSC scattering six hits, allowing two earned runs and fanning five batters.

The Rocks plated three runs in the bottom of the first inning as they batted around the order to start the game.

In the bottom of the fourth with two outs, Tristan Bush advanced after being hit by a pitch and Taylor Lafontaine doubled. Trace Rhodes smacked a two-run single that plated Bush and Lafontaine to make the score 5-0 heading into the fifth inning.

In the bottom of the fifth inning, the Rocks added three more runs to push the score to 8-0; however, in the top of the sixth the Trojans broke the shutout up adding four runs.

But, in the bottom of the sixth inning, SSC erased all doubt playing three more runs. Rhodes and Colin Fredrickson both walked before Braxton Bean hit a two-run double. Strong advanced on a single to rightfield just before Cole Fletcher drove in Bean on a single to make up the final score 11-4.

SSC head coach Mark Logan commented, "Dawson Strong had a few strong innings for us. Brad Dossett had not pitched in more than a week so he needed to get some work and did a solid job. Cole Fletcher finished things off on the mound. We were consistent at the plate getting contact on the ball by several players. We cannot rely on one area of the order. We have had different guys step up throughout the season."

At the plate, Lafontaine had a single and a double with an RBI while Bean had a double and three RBIs. O'Bannon had two singles followed by Fredrickson with an RBI single and Rhodes with a two RBI single.

On Saturday, SSC traveled to Northeast Lauderdale and came from behind 3-1 in the top of the seventh inning to score four runs and steal the win.

Taylor LaFontaine got a one-out hit. Trace Rhodes and Colin Frederickson were both hit by pitch that allowed Braxton Bean to get a two-RBI base hit to tie it at 3-3. The Rocks scored another run on an overthrow and Dawson Strong had an RBI base hit.

Peyton Sandrock got the win on the mound going six innings allowing four hits, three earned runs and two strikeouts. Fletcher recorded the save.

At the plate, the Rocks were led by Strong with three hits followed by Corban O'Bannon had two hits. Lafontaine, Bean and Fletcher all added a hit.

Logan added, "Once again we had guys come through in the seventh inning when we needed them to. Peyton Sandrock threw six solid innings to keep us in the game and Cole Fletcher picked up the save pitching a scoreless seventh inning.

To beat Sumrall, we will have to play our best baseball of the season. They are a solid team that does every facet of the game well. They are well coached and have a bunch of talented players. We'll have to pitch well, get timely hits to score runs and play as clean as we possibly can defensively."

Sumrall (28-4) is the Division 7-4A champion and is coming off a sweep of Northeast Jones 12-0 and 6-3.

Sumrall and SSC share several common opponents. Sumrall swept Purvis in their division series while SSC needed three games to defeat the Tornadoes in first round action. The Rocks swept Pass Christian during their divisional series and Sumrall needed three games to dispatch the Pirates in first round action.

Sumrall beat Oak Forest Academy 12-0 and SSC beat them twice 16-1 and 5-0. Sumrall beat Presbyterian Christian Academy 10-0 and SSC topped them 6-1. Sumrall beat Oak Grove 10-0 and SSC lost 10-6. And, Sumrall beat Gulfport 4-1 and SSC topped the Admirals 4-2.

Game one is set for Thursday at 6pm at SSC. The Rocks will travel to Sumrall on Friday for Game Two and return to SSC on Saturday for Game Three, if necessary. See you at the game!

Mississippi has 11 players selected in the 2019 NFL Draft

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

The state of Mississippi had 13 players hear their name called in the 2019 NFL Draft this past weekend.

The draft was hosted this year in Nashville for the first time and was an overwhelming success as the south rolled out the red carpet for sports' most watched selection show. It was estimated that over 150,000 turned out to view the first round live on Broadway in downtown Nashville despite poor weather conditions.

The Mississippi State Bulldogs' defense continued to bask in the limelight with three first round selections on Thursday evening. They tied with National Champion Clemson and runner-up Alabama for the most selections in the first round.

The first player with Mississippi ties to come off the board was DT Jeffery Simmons when he was selected with the 19th overall pick by the Tennessee Titans.

Simmons, a 6'4" 303-LB one-man wrecking crew, was a two-time first team All-SEC selection and was a third team All-American by the Associated Press in 2018. He recorded 63 total stops including 17 tackles for loss in his final year in Starkville.

The former five-star recruit out of Noxubee County led his team to two consecutive Class 4A state championships and is expected to contribute immediately for the Titans.

Mississippi State's Montez Sweat, a 6'6" 260-lb defensive end, was taken #26 overall by the Washington Redskins. He played two seasons for Mississippk State after signing with Michigan State University out of high school in Georgia. He left after one season and spent the next year at Copiah-Lincoln CC.

Sweat was a two-time All-SEC selection and a second team All-American selection in 2018. He recorded 53 tackles including 14 tackles for loss and 11.5 sacks in 2018. He figures to step right into an edge rushing role for the Redskins.

Johnathan Abrams, a 6'3" 225-lb linebacker for the Bulldogs, was selected 27th overall by the Oakland Raiders.

Abrams fits the persona of the Raiders defense to a "T". He is a bruising tackler that tallied 99 tackles in 2018 when he was selected first team All-SEC and third team AP All-American.

The Bulldogs had two other selections in the draft with C Elgton Jenkins going to the Green Bay Packers in the second round with the 44th overall selection.

Jenkins has the versatility at 6'4" and 305 pounds to play guard if called upon but will begin his career competing at center.

Gerri Green, a 6'4" 252-lb defensive end, was taken by the Indianapolis Colts with the 199th overall pick in the sixth round. He figures to be a developmental player for the Colts as he masters the outside rush in the NFL. In 2018, he recorded 31 tackles with 3.5 sacks.

The Ole Miss Rebels had six players taken in the draft which is the most selections for the program since 1971 when nine were taken in a 17-round draft.

Greg Little, a 6'5" 310-lb left tackle, was selected by the Carolina Panthers in the second round with the 37th overall pick.

Little was a lineman for #1 overall pick Kyler Murray in high schools at Allen, Texas. The former five-star recruit was a consensus top five flrecruit no matter the position coming out of high school. He was a freshman All-SEC and All-American in 2016, second team All-SEC in 2017 and first team All-SEC in 2018. Little will.provide immediate help to a Panther line desperate to protect Cam Newton.

AJ Brown, one who many had rated a first rounder fell to the 51st overall pick where he was taken by the Tennessee Titans. The 6' 226-lb wide-out tore up college defenses in his three years in Oxford. He was named first team All-SEC in 2017 and 2018 and third team All-American in 2017. In 2018, he recorded 85 catches for 1,320 yards and six touchdowns. His catches and yardage are both school records. The former four-star recruit will give Marcus Mariotta a sure pair of hands and yardage after the catch in Nashville.

DK Metcalf, a 6'4" 230-lb behemoth of a wide receiver, was the top ranked wideout heading into the draft but fell to the 64th overall selection in the second round where the Seattle Seahawks selected him.

Metcalf, the son of former Ole Miss All-American and Chicago Bears offensive tackle Terrance Metcalf, had an injury plagued career but still turned in an eye-popping 4.31 40-yard time which is the fastest time for a wide receiver in history of that size.

He gives Russell Wilson a very large target that can stretch the field and create impossible matchups on many corners in the league.

Dawson Knox, a 6'4" 254-lb tight end from Ole Miss, was taken by the Buffalo Bill's with the 96th overall pick in the third round. He is a deceiving runner who has worked on being a punishing blocker at the line and downfield.

Javon Patterson, a 6'3 307-lb offensive guard, was selected by the Indianapolis Colts with in the 246th overall selection. He will likely begin his career as a center in the NFL. He played both positions at Ole Miss during his career.

Ken Webster, a 5'11 203-lb cornerback, was taken by the New England Patriots with the 252nd overall pick. Webster also suffered an injury plagued career but has proven to be a solid tackler in run coverage.

Darrell Henderson, a South Panola product who played running back at the University of Memphis, was taken in the third round with the 70th overall selection.

Henderson was second in the nation in 2018 with 1,909 yards and 22 touchdowns. His 2,328 total yards led the nation. He was a first team AP All-American.

Gardner Minshew, a lightly recruited quarterback out of Clinton High School, was taken in the sixth round with the 178th overall selection by the Jacksonville Jaguars.

Minshew went to Northwest Community College out of Clinton where he led them to the NJCCA national championship.

After that, he chose Washington State where he was named the PAC-12 Offensive Player of the Year after throwing for 4,779 yards and 38 touchdowns in 2018.

More players with Mississippi ties are expected to be picked up by teams during the feeding frenzy after the draft commonly known as the undrafted rookie free agent period.

WAVELAND: LIGHTING the WAY

Echo staff photos by Geoff Belcher

A crowd gathers under the newly-dedicated Waveland Lighthouse and comfort station on Beach Blvd. Mayor Mike Smith said the new facility offers endless possibilities to enhance life in the city.

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

The city of Waveland on Friday hosted a ribbon cutting to celebrate the opening of Waveland's lighthouse and bathroom project.

The $1.9 million structure is located on the beach at the end of Coleman Avenue, between the veterans' memorial and the Garfield Ladner Fishing Pier.

Compton Engineering designed the project and Barnard and Sons handled the construction.

Waveland Mayor Mike Smith described the ribbon cutting as "very nice" and "well-attended."

"Last month, since it opened, every time I pass by, I see somebody there," Smith said. "On the weekends it's packed. It's bringing in families to see the lighthouse and spend time on the beach."

Funding was made possible by Tidelands, GoMesa and sea wall tax funds, which have to be utilized for beach access, Smith said. Smith also thanked the Hancock County Board of Supervisors for partnering with the city.

Smith said that the city plans to use future Tidelands funds to provide handicap access to the beach.

At the base of the lighthouse, there is a staircase and space to host events. The elevator takes people up to the men and women's restrooms and deck.

"We are working on formulating a schedule for the space and coming up with rental plans," Smith said. "We've already had several requests to use it. I see endless possibilities. I've heard nothing but good things about it."

Hanna Noelle Dawley Named de Montluzin Foreign Language Scholarship Winner

SEA COAST ECHO

Our Lady Academy senior Hanna Noelle Dawley has been awarded the $3,000 Emily de Montluzin Foreign Language Scholarship for 2019. She becomes the thirty-fourth recipient of the scholarship, which is awarded annually by a board of directors to a superior foreign language student from any of the high schools in Hancock County.

Dawley will enter Tulane University, where she plans to major in International Relations with a minor in French.

She has been accepted into Tulane's Spring Scholar Program, through which she has been accorded the opportunity to spend her first semester as a freshman attending the American University of Paris.

Dawley, whose family background is one of extensive military service, has set herself the goal of becoming a United States Foreign Service officer specializing in work with Francophone nations.

"I truly learned how versatile the French language is with over twenty-five Francophone countries in the world," she writes, "and a majority of them suffer human rights issues from refugees, sex trafficking, women's rights, and post colonization rebuilding."

To a large degree her Foreign Service career choice was shaped, she says, by the transformative experience of serving as the translator/counselor for a group of Haitian children hosted last summer by Camp Stanislaus.

"None of them could speak even a word in English, not even hello or thank you. I realized how daunting it must be to arrive to America not understanding the language, without parents, and [with] only a minute suitcase containing their most necessary belongings."

Dawley became, in her words, their "French speaking ally." An avid sailor with the Pass Christian Yacht Club and the Saint Stanislaus College Varsity Sailing Team, she took the visiting Haitian children sailing for the first time and taught them how to fish.

In turn, she says, "I was taught about cultural customs and Haiti's economic despair and ongoing struggle to rebuild" in the wake of the country's catastrophic earthquake that left between 220,000 and 300,000 dead and some 1.6 million homeless. "My eyes were opened to my American blessings. After the amazing summer with the Haitian children, I knew French and cultural outreach was my passion."

Her French teacher, Jennifer Kayes, describes her as a true "global citizen."

Dawley has excelled in her four years of high-school French, and in her sophomore year she was a silver medalist in Le Grand Concours—the National French Contest, sponsored by the American Association of Teachers of French—achieving ranking as eighth in the state and the 90th percentile nationally.

Dawley is a member of the National Honor Society, the French honor society, the National Art Honor Society, the National Mathematics Society, and, for the past three years, Our Lady Academy's Quiz Bowl Team. The recipient of the Betty Bensabat Scholarship and the Sisters of Mercy Scholarship, she has in addition been an active tutor, volunteer, and ambassador for the Boys & Girls Club Qatar Center and is the first female counselor-in-training at Camp Stanislaus in the camp's 90-year history.

Dawley plans to take up her studies at the American University of Paris during the fall 2019 semester and begin classes at Tulane University in the spring of 2020.

Her parents are Michael and Charlotte Dawley of Pass Christian, MS.

Bay St. Louis Little Theatre Opens ‘Side Man’ on May 16

SEA COAST ECHO

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre is opening the tender, poignant drama "Side Man" written by Warren Leight. He based the story on his real life experiences as the son of a jazz musician. The play was the winner for the 1999 Tony Award for Best Play. "An atmospheric memory play that spans three decades in the life of a jazz musician,...incisively captures the pulse and climate of the jazz scene with crisp dialogue and clearly drawn characters." – Variety

Set in 1953 and traveling to 1985, this lovely and poignant memory play unfolds through the eyes of Clifford, the only son of Gene, a jazz trumpet player, and Terry, an alcoholic mother. Alternating between their New York City apartment and a smoke-filled music club, Clifford narrates the story of his family and of jazz as popular entertainment. Clifford recalls the key moments in his life.

"Side Man" opens on May 16th. Show dates and times are May 16, 17, 18 at 8pm; and May 18 and 19 at 2pm. Note: there are Saturday and Sunday matinees schedule for this show. Doors open one hour before the show and seating starts 30 minutes before each show.

Tickets for the show can be purchased online at www.bsllt.org or purchased at Lulu's at 126 Main Street. All ticket fees are $10. Seat reservations can be made by calling 228-467-9024 or email the Little Theatre. Reservations for seats are recommended for all ticket holders including season ticket holders to be able to accommodate the show's audiences. The Little Theatre accepts check or cash when paying for tickets at the door. This show is recommended for adults because it contains adult language.

Salvia plants bring pollinators, color

The Vista red salvia variety tolerates high summer heat and humidity, while Victoria Blue produces throughout the summer and into fall and was selected as a Mississippi Medallion winner in 1998.

MSU EXTENSION SERVICE

Over the past couple of years, I've found myself joining home gardeners everywhere in planting more plants to attract pollinators.

In fact, along with being a stop on the Rosalyn Carter Butterfly Trail, my home landscape is also registered with the Million Pollinator Garden Challenge, which has the goal of registering 1 million pollinator gardens. If you'd like to register your garden, go to <http://millionpollinatorgardens.org> for more information.

One of my go-to plants for attracting pollinators, especially the various bumblebees, has to be salvias. It doesn't matter which variety, I just have to have salvias growing in my landscape.

Rockin' Playin' The Blues salvia is a plant that I have to call one of my best choices. I've been growing this perennial going on three years now. It produces beautiful blue flowers all summer long.

A nice feature I like about the plant is its sterility, which means the gorgeous flowers don't produce seed that could cause a weed problem. I like that the blue calyx remains after the actual flower falls off. This means the color has an even longer-lasting landscape effect. I enjoyed watching all the bumblebees and other pollinators enjoying the nectar filled flowers.

It was interesting a couple of years ago when a tropical storm dumped rain on us over the course of four days. It would rain like crazy for a while, and then we would be in a calm period. Every time the rain stopped for a while, the bumblebees would come back to the Rockin' Playin' The Blues plants.

Another perennial salvia I like are the group of Salvia farinacea. They tend not to be flashy, but they do draw the pollinators.

Victoria Blue salvia is an old reliable that was selected as a Mississippi Medallion winner way back in 1998. It was good then, and it's still good now. This is an upright perennial that will need some winter protection in northern Mississippi. The rich, deep-blue flowers are displayed on spikes and are produced through the summer and into fall. This plant will grow to about 18 or more inches tall and 12 inches wide.

I can't forget to mention that there are fantastic annual salvia selections. One of my favorites is Salvia splendens. As the name suggests, they are splendid in the landscape.

They have the common name of scarlet salvia but come in a variety of bright colors.

The Vista series is one of my favorites. These plants are well behaved and growth tops out at a compact 12 inches. The flowers on the spikes are densely packed. Over the past couple of years, I've seen these plants in the summer trials in both Mississippi and Louisiana. Both the red and purple varieties looked great despite the high summer heat and humidity.

Salvias appreciate it when their planting beds have good drainage. Mine always do well in containers, the bigger the better. Be sure to grow in the full sun, and I know you'll be growing salvia for years to come.
